By Mike S. Davis

The report, released last week, says the party's leadership has failed to provide adequate oversight of the party's finances. The report also says the party's leadership has failed to provide adequate oversight of the party's finances.

Zubiri bares unusual agri fund release

By Charles T. Sison

President Benigno Aquino III's administration has unveiled a new way of releasing funds from the Agriculture Department's Special Account for Agricultural Modernization (SAPAM) to help farmers and agribusinesses. The new system, called the "Direct Release Mechanism" (DRM), allows farmers and agribusinesses to apply for funds directly from the SAPAM, bypassing the usual bureaucratic process of going through the Department of Agriculture (DA) and the Department of Budget and Finance (DBF). The DRM is a pilot program that will be implemented in the first quarter of 2015. It will be a voluntary program, and farmers and agribusinesses who want to participate must first register with the SAPAM. The DRM is a response to the long-standing problem of delayed fund releases from the SAPAM. The DA and DBF have often been slow to release funds from the SAPAM, which has caused frustration among farmers and agribusinesses. The DRM is a way to speed up the process and ensure that funds are released to the farmers and agribusinesses who need them most.

The bill also aims to ensure that the state schools' budget is not cut again in the future. The bill is expected to pass the House of Representatives, but it still needs to be approved by the Senate.
